Consent form — "Days out that fit you" research study

Who is running this? Abram, an individual in London, testing an idea for a travel planning app. This is research: nothing is being sold, and there is no payment either way. Contact: abram@abdurakhmonbek.com, or WhatsApp +44 7771 477717 (the study's number).

What you'll do

- A 20–30 minute chat on WhatsApp, by voice notes or typing, your choice. We use a separate number just for this study.
- Then two day plans to compare. Optionally, use one on a real day and send a 1–5 rating after each stop.

If something goes wrong on the day: in an emergency, call 999. For anything else that feels unsafe, message Abram on the study's WhatsApp number, +44 7771 477717. He will reply within a few hours.

What is recorded, and why

What	Why	How long we keep it
Your answers (text, and transcripts of voice notes)	To understand what makes a day out good for you, and to make your plan	Until 31 March 2027, then deleted. Anonymised results may be kept
Voice notes (audio)	Only to turn them into text	Deleted as soon as they are transcribed (and deleted from the chat on our side; the copy on your own phone is yours to keep or delete), unless you opt in below
Your ratings, and the date, time and weather of each stop	To learn what made each stop feel good	Until 31 March 2027
Name and WhatsApp number	To contact you during the study	Deleted when the study ends

- Transcription happens on Abram's laptop. Your audio is not sent to any transcription or AI company. WhatsApp itself carries the messages, and its own privacy policy applies to them.
- AI help: Abram uses an AI service (Claude, made by Anthropic) to help write up your summary and to run the program that makes your plans. It only ever gets your answers under a code like P07: never your name, number or voice notes. Abram checks everything it writes. The privacy notice below says how Anthropic handles it.

Optional: if you're happy for Abram to keep your voice notes for 30 days to check the transcripts are accurate, add "and keep my voice notes" to your reply. They are then deleted. (Saying no changes nothing else.)

What we don't ask for: we don't need your nationality, health details or allergies. Please don't send them. If you do, they won't be recorded.

Your choices

- Taking part is voluntary.
- Skip any question.
- Stop at any time without giving a reason.
- Ask to see or delete your data at any time: message Abram or email abram@abdurakhmonbek.com. We'll delete it within 14 days.

Is it a real person? Yes. Abram runs the chat. AI only helps write up the summary and run the planning program.

To take part, reply "I agree" in the chat. By replying, you confirm that you're 18 or over, that you've read this form and the privacy notice below, and that you agree to take part.

Privacy notice — research study and waitlist

Last updated: 28 September 2026. This covers the Phase 3 study (Tests A–C) and the Test D waitlist page.

Who is responsible (the controller): Abram, London. Contact: abram@abdurakhmonbek.com. Study participants can also message the study's WhatsApp number, +44 7771 477717.

What we collect and why

Data	Purpose	Lawful basis (UK GDPR)
Study answers, transcripts, ratings, stop time, date and weather	To test whether a personalised day plan works; to make your plan	Consent (Art. 6(1)(a)); withdraw at any time
Voice notes (audio)	Transcription only; deleted once transcribed unless you opt in to 30 days	Consent
Name and WhatsApp number	To contact you during the study	Consent
Waitlist: email, chosen option (free or founding price), price arm, referral code, source link	To tell you when the app is ready, and to measure interest at each price	Consent
Page visits (GoatCounter: no cookies, no unique identifiers)	To count visits per price arm	Legitimate interests (Art. 6(1)(f)): aggregate counts only

We do not ask for special category data (health, allergies, religion, ethnicity) or nationality. If you volunteer it, we don't record it.

Who else handles it

Service	Role	Where
WhatsApp (Meta)	The chat itself, on a separate WhatsApp Business number; its own privacy policy applies to messages	See WhatsApp's policy
Anthropic (Claude)	Helps write up study summaries and run the planning program. It gets your answers under a participant code (like P07), never your name, number or voice notes. Abram uses a personal Claude account, and under Anthropic's consumer terms Anthropic decides how it handles what it receives (it is a separate controller, not our processor). The setting that lets Anthropic train its models on these chats is off. Abram deletes the chats when he deletes the rest of your data, and Anthropic says deleted chats leave its systems within 30 days	The United States. Anthropic's privacy policy says it protects these transfers with standard contractual clauses and adequacy decisions
Tally	The waitlist form only (the study itself uses no forms). Our processor, under Tally's data processing agreement	Tally is based in Belgium and stores form data in the EU
GoatCounter	Visit counts; no personal data collected	See GoatCounter's policy
Render	Hosts the static waitlist page; no form data stored there	See Render's policy

How long

- Audio: deleted on transcription, or after 30 days if you opt in.
- Study data: deleted by 31 March 2027; anonymised results may be kept.
- Waitlist emails: kept until launch or until you unsubscribe, whichever is first.

Your rights

You can access, correct or delete your data, withdraw consent, or object, by contacting abram@abdurakhmonbek.com (or, in the study, by messaging the study's WhatsApp number). We reply within one month. If you're unhappy, you can complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ico.org.uk).

No payments

The waitlist takes no money and no card details. If prices are shown, we will email you before anything is ever charged.
